In Cliburn To Appear

Cliburn is appearing today p.m. in the Smith Center ticket office. They are available in the Harris Center ticket office. Admission is $1.00.

With Cliburn is the symphony orchestra under the direction of Maurice Abravanel.

For the evening is an orchestral transcription of Tchaikovsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition," a varied composition continuous parts that depict scenes from the life of Beethoven's "Funeral March" in honor of President Dwight David.

After intermission, Cliburn will join with the nationally rated orchestra in playing Tchaikovsky's Piano Concerto No. 1 in B-flat minor.

This is the same piece he performed in his debut with the New York Philharmonic and with which he won the first Tchaikovsky Competition in Moscow in 1958.

The famous pianist hails from Kilgore, Texas, and is the first classical musician to receive a ticket tape parade as a national hero.

Taught to read music at three years of age—before he could read words—he made his first public appearance at four years of age.

Nation Honors Great Leader

By Judy Geisler
Assistant News Editor

Associated Press

For the fourth time in recent years, the riderless horse—the symbol of a fallen military leader—proceeded down Constitution Avenue in Washington, D.C. towards the Capitol Building.

In 1963, the symbolic horse was seen at the head of the funeral procession of Pres. John F. Kennedy, and at the heads of the funerals of Douglas MacArthur and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Sunday, it was seen leading the funeral procession of Gen. Dwight David Eisenhower, 34th President of the United States, who died Friday at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

CAPITOL RITES

At the Capitol Bridge, a short ceremony was held. Musical offerings, including the playing of "Hail to the Chief" and "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and a 21-gun salute honored the former President.

Inside the Capitol rotunda, Pres. Richard M. Nixon eulogized the man under whom he served for eight years. A presidential wreath was placed at the casket, which will lie in state until Monday afternoon.

The Thursday funeral began Saturday with a private service at Washington National Cathedral. In attendance were the General's widow, Mamie Doud Eisenhower; their son, John; the two surviving Eisenhower brothers, Edgar and Milton; and several other family members and friends.

CHURCH SERVICES

Episcopal funeral services will be held today at Washington National Cathedral. Heads of state of at least 30 countries are expected to be in attendance.

TV PROGRAMS

Four Salt Lake City television stations will carry programs relating to the former President.

KUTV Channel 4 will carry the transfer of the casket to National Cathedral from the Capitol Rotunda and the cortège to Union Station from 2-4 p.m.

KUTV-Channel 2 is scheduled to air the funeral ceremonies from 1-3 p.m. and at 4:30 p.m., an extended edition of Bradley report.

KSL-TV-Channel 5 begins coverage at 11 a.m. and will continue until the conclusion of the funeral and processional to Union Station.

KUED-Channel 7 will carry a special entitled, "Dwight David Eisenhower, 1890-1969," from 8-9 p.m.

FLAG LOWERED

At BYU, Ernest L. Wilkinson announced that "the flag on campus was lowered to half mast immediately on the announcement of the death. Thereafter, Pres. Nixon proclaimed today a National Day of Mourning in which we hope all students will participate."

"This is not the equivalent of a holiday and school will continue as usual," the statement continued, "but we hope that all will realize the significance of the occasion and be appreciative of the contribution that Gen. Eisenhower made."

It is asking for $400 billion from the United States for separation of what it says was the labor "stolen from our ancestors during slavery and for damages suffered by all of us since slavery, by reasons of racial discrimination."

Perfect Scores Earned On Entrance Exams

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Kwong Jr., 16, is such a worrier that he took the College Board exams three times—and earned perfect scores on nine mathematics and science tests.

The fledgling mathematician didn't score as well on his verbal tests, 696 out of a possible 800. But the Chinese boy, who arrived from his native Hong Kong only two years ago, and 696, with his grades, could get him into any college in the country.

Tony is a slender and handsome boy who ranks fifth in his senior class at Seward Park High School, the school most of the city's Chinese-American teenagers attend.

He started taking the college entrance examinations as a junior May 1966—for practice.

He took them officially last December, but did not do well enough, he took them again in January. He needn't have worried.

He won perfect scores on the mathematics, physics and chemistry tests twice each and won three more 800s in math achievement and aptitude tests.

Tony learned his English at an Irish mission school in Hong Kong. He is a good reader, but lacks the kind of perfection that indicates he learned it at school, and considers himself bilingual.

Miss Margaret Thorne, who directs the College Board testing program, said Kwong could be credited with only four perfect scores because the others are duplicates although each was won on different tests. His achievement of four perfect scores "is matched by at least 16 other students this year," she said.

That still places him among the top 17 pupils of the 1.4 million who took College Boards this year.

Kwong has four brothers and sisters. Their father is manager of a small garment factory in Manhattan's Chinatown.

Tony hopes someday to teach math at college, or become an industrial math researcher. But first there's college.

He applied to Princeton, City College, Cooper Union and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in that order, and hopes for a scholarship from Princeton.

I Pledge Allegiance . . .

By Jerry Buck

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It doesn't seem like the chart among the teen-age rock stars, but here the hits on radio are being made by Red Skelton reciting an interpretation of the Pledge of Allegiance.

Skelton's version has been read into the Congressional Record.

His production company in Hollywood has been inundated by 200,000 requests for copies of the pledge printed on a scroll.

The recording is a version of the pledge Skelton wrote for a teacher while a schoolboy in Vincennes, Ind. He first recited it on his television show on CBS Jan. 14.

Here is the pledge:

"I remember this one teacher, a real sage of my time. He had such wisdom. We were all reciting the Pledge of Allegiance, and he walked over. Mr. Lasswell was his name. He said,

"'We're reciting to you boys and girls recite the Pledge of Allegiance all semester and it seems as though it is becoming monotonous to you. If I may, may I recite it and try to explain to you the meaning of each word:

"'I—me, an individual, a committee of one.'

"Pledge—dedicate all of my worldly goods to give without self-pity.

"'Allegiance—my love and my devotion.'

"To the flag our standard, Old Glory, a symbol of freedom. Wherever she waves, there is respect because your loyalty has

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Andrew Caback was making his nightly store deliveries of rental sentry dogs. The dogs, deemed vicious, are trained to attack strangers. "Of the United—that means that we have all come together."

"States—individual communities that have united into 48 great states. Forty eight individual communities with pride and dignity and purpose, all divided with imaginary boundaries, yet united to a common purpose, and that's love of country."

"Of America."

"And to the Republic—a state in which sovereign power is invested in representatives chosen by the people to govern. And government is the people and it's from the people to the leaders, not from the leaders to the people."

"For which it stands."

"One nation—meaning, so in God we trust."

"Inseparable—incapable of being divided."

"With liberty—which is freedom and the right of power to live one's own life without threats or fear or some sort of retaliation."

"And Justice—the principle of quality of dealing fairly with others."

"For all—which means it's as much your country as it is mine." The words were said by a boy, two states have been added to our country and two words have been added to the Pledge of Allegiance—"under God."

There is no one way to do the job, and no one way one businessman or one business, nor even the government, can do the job alone. Steve says advertising raises prices.

But how come that color TV set his fraternity just bought costs $300 less than it used to?

Ten years ago, a typical 21-inch color TV set sold for $700. Today, you can get a comparable set for under $400. With a lot of improvements, too. Like automatic fine tuning. And less need for servicing.

Why has the price down so dramatically? Many millions of dollars of advertising, mainly.

Weren't there a lot of technological improvements, too? Yes. But they might have actually added to the price--without the vast increase in sales, and volume production, made possible by this advertising.

Maybe you, like Steve, think advertising raises prices, favors big outfits, helps keep useless products on the market. But actual cases prove just the opposite. Advertising lowers prices (like color TV sets). It creates competition. Promotes new ideas (Contac, for instance). Helps the imaginative little guy catch up (like Diet Coke, who beat the big cola companies with a good product and advertising).

Interested? Write us. We'll gladly send you more facts about advertising. You'll find they speak for themselves. In the meantime, keep an open mind.

Soccer Asks U Forfeits; 'C' Team Opens Play

By Jim Hunt
University Sports Writer

BYU's soccer teams plan to file demands that they be awarded forfeit points in the Utah College Soccer League competition after the Utah clubs refused to play scheduled games Saturday.

BYU 'A' was scheduled to meet Utah 'A' and BYU 'B' was to face Utah 'B' Saturday, but on Thursday Utah informed league president Bill Mead it would not play the games.

Under league rules, a team can cancel a game on the scheduled date if it informs the league of its intentions two weeks or more before the date of the game and the other team agrees.

The situation in Saturday's game was unique, though, because the spring schedule was less than two weeks old. Therefore, Utah claims the cancellation was legal.

BYU contends that Utah did not have a valid reason for the cancellation, and so insists that the games be forfeited. Utah said it could not field representative teams Saturday.

Utah's teams are in a state of flux at the present time. Bill Gossett is the new president of the Utah soccer clubs, replacing Mark Jones who left the club after the Arizona trip in December.

A number of Redskin players, disappointed after three consecutive losses at the end of the fall season, reportedly are considering transferring to Salt Lake League ethnic teams.

Meanwhile, BYU's spirited players refused to take the week off. A friendly game was arranged for BYU 'C' against Rollo of the Salt Lake division.

The 'C' team was bolstered by the addition of four 'A' players who were on hand to help stabilize the new players in their first game.

Since it was an exhibition game, Rollo consented to their play.

In fact, to give more of the boys a chance to play longer, Rollo let several BYU men put on light blue Rollo jerseys and play for them. The reason which under the circumstances is insignificant, was BYU 'C' 4, Rollo 0.

It was a good start for the 'C' team. Coach Dan Madson expressed satisfaction with the regular 'C' players' performances.

"Some of these kids have waited a long time to get into a game," the coach said. "They were really hot. They surprised me—all of them played well."

This weekend, BYU 'A' will meet Weber State in Provo, while the 'B' team draws a bye. BYU 'C' is trying to schedule another Salt Lake City team, either in Salt Lake or Provo.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — George Mikan, commissioner of the American Basketball Association, says his league and the National Basketball Association still hope to see UCLA All-American Lew Alcindor.

However, Alcindor says he will sign with the Milwaukee Bucks of the rival National Basketball Association.

Mikan said Saturday the NBA and New York owner Arthur J. Brown offered Alcindor a five-year, $3.25 million package plus five per cent of the Nets' gross. "Let the NBA top that," Mikan said.

Mikan says Alcindor's adviser, identified as Stu Gilbert, was to confer with an attorney and "talk to us Monday. Does that mean negotiations are closed?"

Alcindor said Saturday at an Atlanta news conference, "Milwaukee made me a very lucrative offer. They're real good people up there and I had no difficulty whatsoever in making up my mind to play with them."

Mikan said that the Nets made an offer to Alcindor last Tuesday and brought with them "a bankable five-year contract, a certified contract."

The NBA commissioner said one feature of the offer is the casher's check for $1 million.

"Did anybody ever write a $1 million check to an athlete? Did the NBA do that? We did it. What did the NBA do?" Mikan said. "I don't know whether the Bucks made a verbal offer or placed it in writing as the NBA now has done."

"He (Alcindor) doesn't want to play in Milwaukee," Mikan said. "He wants to play in New York. I'm not a good loser and never was."

Tempered safety glass, which disintegrates into small noncutting fragments on impact, first was manufactured in France in 1932 and was introduced in the United States in 1936 by the Chrysler Corporation for rear windows.

The door was never locked. Lew Alcindor is the only one who can sign that contract."

Alcindor said in Atlanta he made a quick decision Saturday to play in Milwaukee rather than wait for a bidding war.

"I might have received more money if I had waited," Alcindor said, "but I would have only degraded the representatives of the NBA and ABA in doing so."

... is really John Scrochinsky (left) who brought home the highest finish for BYU in the NCAA wrestling championships. The sophomores came in fifth in the 177-pound class. His first loss was to eventual champion Chuck Jean of Iowa State.

Iowa State Grapplers Reign Over NCAA

By Gary Richins
and James Brink
University Sportswriters

After three grueling days of tumultuous cheering and excitement, silence falls over Ames, Iowa, where it all began at the 1968 NCAA Wrestling Championships, and only memories are left now.

But what memories they are! Iowa State, ranked third going into the tournament, literally vanquished all opposition in winning their second championship with a record 104 points.

Oklahoma University placed second with 69, followed by Oregon State with 58, Michigan State with 57, Cal Poly with 52, and Oklahoma State, last year's champion, with 51.

BYU finished in 27th place with 10 points on the strength of a fifth place finish by sophomore John Scrochinsky.

The finals Saturday night were very exciting with four falls being scored. In the 115 pound division, John Miller of Oregon won a 1-0 decision in an overtime bout with Sergio Gonzales of UCLA.

Miller, with a mediocre 4-3-1 record, was defeated by Gonzales in the Pacific 8 championships, but he scored a stand-up escape in 9:08 of the second overtime period to win.

Wayne Boyd of Temple University scored an upset in the 123-pound class by winning a fall over number two seed Stanley Keeley in 7:40.

In the 130 pound division David McGuire of Oklahoma University joined Len Groom of Colorado State with a cradle in 4:38.

Dan Gable of Iowa State was the highlight of the tourney as he won easily over Marty Willigan of Hofstra University by a fall in 4:20.

Gable, who pinned every one of his opponents in the tourney is the epitome of the "Iowa State" move is executed with the precision timing of a fine-tuned chronometer.

Besides winning the individual medal, Gable was the trophy for the most falls in the least amount of time, with 5 falls in 20:19. He also won a trophy for being the outstanding wrestler of the tourney.

Mike Grant of Oklahoma State won a 5-4 decision over Ray Murphy of Oklahoma State by receiving 1 point for a riding time advantage. This was the third time they have met this year in the 145 pound division.

In the 152 pound class, Gobel Kroll of Maryland decisively defeated Richard Miller of Iowa 4-1 on the strength of a reversal and two points riding time.

Cleo McGlory of Oklahoma, in the finals of the 160-pound class for the third consecutive time, finally won the gold medal by defeating Dave Martin of Iowa State 5-3. McGlory lost the championship round last year by being pinned in the last 2 seconds of the match.

Chuck Jean of Iowa State came from a 4-2 deficit to score a takedown and a fall over Peter Cornell of Michigan in the 177 pound division.

CSU Wins WAC Gym Title

By Cam Caldwell

Behind the performance of NCAAs qualifiers Dennis Ramsey, Bryce Martin and Don Ferre, the Cougar gymnastics team earned a third place finish in the WAC Championships behind Colorado State and the University of New Mexico.

Ramsey tied with Lobo Tom Gallotto on the side horse with a 9.45 score to head the WAC competitors in that event.

Sophomore Bryce Martin's 9.175 took third place among free exercise qualifiers.

All-around teamman Don Ferre finished fourth among long horse vaulters, but will represent the WAC since New Mexico's Rich McConnell is ineligible for NCAA competition.

Freshman ringman Gary Vanderhoef qualified for the individual finals on the basis of his fourth place finish in the Friday team competition. Martin also qualified for the Saturday finals by earning a seventh in vaulting. Each finished seventh in his particular event in the finals.

Colorado State upset defending champion University of New Mexico by a 160.075-157.870 margin. The Cougars' 149.650 was third, ahead of Arizona State with 142.875.

Marines could have qualified for the National Championships in a fine-tuned chronometer.

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The U.S. amateur hockey team lost to Finland 7-3 for its 10th defeat in 10 games Sunday and lost its place in the world championship A group.

The Americans, giving their worst display of the tournament, finished in last place and automatically dropped into Group B.

fedayeen, (men of sacrifice) a Palestinian refugees who organized into several indo groups with the intent gaining Palestine for the the Israelis they are only and terrorists and thus, inept and indiscriminate in missions. To the Arabs, they freed freedom fighters in the guerrilla tradition, adept in the commando and the war. To the world they are a large group of clandestine often at odds with one another, who are playing a large keeping the Middle East on the edge of war.

DANGEROUS FACTORS

third definition is the most state. The El Fatah, PLP (Liberation Force) and (Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine) are some dangerous and controllable factors in the equation. El Fatah, the fedayeen, for example, is no more than most of the Arab elements, while Arab leaders sympathetic and support fedayeen or run the risk of taken over by them. Israel's holding each Arab responsible for the fedayeen has created the problem further. Aviv has little recourse. the U.S. and the Soviet Union are keenly aware of the situation. Russia has played her cards to full advantage. The Soviets have staked their navy in the Mediterranean, thus expanding Moscow influence to the Arab countries. This has increased the danger of a direct U.S.-Russian confrontation on the high seas, should a new Middle East war break out.

USSR-U.S. TRAP

The most inflammable aspect of the Middle East tinder box could reluctantly trapped in direct confrontation if the Arabs and Israelis square off for another round of full-scale war.

This is why the elements of instability, namely the fedayeen, are so important in this crisis. It is conceivable that a negotiated peace could be accomplished if the Arab leaders and Israel didn't have to worry about the commando fedayeen.

As Others See Us

By Peggy Lemmon
University Feature Writer

NCAA wrestlers who gathered here last weekend had things on their minds besides wrestling.

What does BYU look like in the eyes of a few peers representing universities around the country?

Is the "Y" thought of as a haven from riots and the seemingly-increasing fad of long hair and girlish-looking boys, or is it instead considered a sheltered, conservative and detached university in comparison with others?

Both sides were brought out through informal chats and interviews with the visiting wrestlers, officials and coaches. The consensus, however, centered around the beauty and cleanliness of the BYU campus. Oklahoma State wrestler Tom Ventes commented on the attractive campus and terrain while University of Oklahoma wrestler Stan Keeley added "... great weather."

Not all comments were directed toward the landscape and campus; there was much admiration for the friendly and helpful attitude of those BYU people affiliated with the matches. Naval Academy Coach Ed Perry added "... appearance of the student body is good... friendly and helpful people everywhere."

UCLA wrestler John Hahn commented that he found the "Y" less rigid and conservative than he had previously thought. Two of his Bruin buddies, though, had different attitudes. Doug Leigh-Taylor considers the "Y" a typical "1984 university" - a "police state without any question of right or wrong toward the rules."

Cliburn makes time for both young and old, as he proudly introduced his father and took a few moments to chat with an 11-year-old fan.

Student Volunteers Conduct Handicapped Swim

By Lana Newton
University Staff Writer

Annie is mentally handicapped. She is one of 40 youngsters participating in a special swim program held weekly at BYU.

Twice a week, children from the ages of 8 to 18 meet for an hour of instruction in the beginning pool.

Students come from the Utah Valley Day Care and Training Center in Provo and the Utah State Training School in American Fork.

Also involved are some special education students at BYU.

EXPERIENCE, SKILL

The purpose of the program is to "provide an enjoyable experience for the children," said Ken McKuen, a graduate teaching assistant who is the primary coordinator of the program. Of secondary emphasis is teaching of skills and success in swimming activity, he added.

Originated three years ago, the swim program is on a voluntary basis rather than a class requirement. Ken and Gary Olson, a graduate student in P.E. and a student coordinator of the program, are pleased with the response of student volunteers. Class instruction has reached a 1 to 1 ratio of students and instructors.

According to Dr. C. Boyd Call, assistant professor of P.E. and director of the Human Performance Rehabilitation Center, the program originated as a class assignment in the fall of 1966, for the class Physical Education for the Mentally Retarded. It has since evolved into a yearly volunteer program coordinated by students.

Dr. Call hopes that the program will be continued. It has provided pleasing experiences for the young people, helping them overcome the fear of water, and giving skills to the more capable student, he commented.

OBJECT TOUCHING

In another room of the Richards Bldg., Gary Olson is instructing a group of handicapped youngsters in a game of "object touching."

"Object touching" involves the recalling and repetition of tasks by each of the youngsters. The students learn through emulating one another. In this way, they improve motor skills and memory capabilities.

The purpose of the swim activity is to provide physical education for the improvement of the motor and mental skills. "Most of the children are very poor in motor learning," Gary remarked.

Calisthenics, a regular part of the gym program, involves all sorts of games for the youngsters, so that they can enjoy their learning experiences. The usual exercises are identified by different names, such as drawbridge or sit-ups.

Leona Young, training specialist at the Utah Day Care and Training Center describes the BYU program for the handicapped as a "most wonderful program" for the youngsters. The young students look forward each week to participating in the activities afforded them, she added.
